Subject: Bank of Wal-Mart

Dear Mr. Gruenberg,

If Wal-Mart is allowed to enter the world of banking, not only would it dominate the corporate world, but the financial one as well. Community banks would go out of business just as local businesses have where their stores have been built. They are known to treat their employees poorly. Their wages, health insurance and other benefits are definitely lacking. For the Fortune 500's #2 company who now wants to dominate the financial marketplace (we all know they will) to treat their people so poorly yet get fatter is an abomination. Please reconsider. I thank you for your time.

Very Sincerely,

Kenna Stout
